PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

Akinola Mosobalaje is a sought-after EdTech innovator, problem-solver, and leader with extensive experience in information technology and education. He has a reputation for delivering innovative solutions that challenge the status quo in the Nigerian educational system.

His passion for education led him to transition into the EdTech sector, where he has become a thought leader in the field. Akinola has a proven track record of managing teams of various sizes and motivating them towards success, developing potential into realized skill sets, and consistently achieving good results. His passion for learning technology has led him to publish two articles and serve as a reviewer for the British Journal of Educational Technology, where he provided constructive feedback to authors to improve the quality of their work. Akinola is committed to the integration of technologies with education in Nigeria and sub-Saharan Africa as a tool for sustainable development. He has received numerous accolades for his innovative contributions to the field, including an EdTech innovation award by Adeyemi College of Education, which recognized his role in giving the institution a pride of place on the global map through technology solutions. In recognition of his expertise, Akinola was invited to deliver a TEDx talk in December 2022. His engaging style and unique insights have made him a sought-after mentor, advisor, and speaker in the EdTech community.

He is dedicated to seeing the integration of technologies with education in Nigeria and sub-Saharan Africa as a tool for sustainable development. His organizations, EdujobsNG where he is leveraging technology to solve educational problems, and KidsTeensCode where he teaches kids & teens to code advocating for coding education in schools, are at the forefront of this mission, providing resources and training to students and educators across the country. In July 2023, His passion for AI in education made him attend the AfricaAIED workshop which was held in Accra Ghana. In 2023, he was awarded the overall best student in the MSc. Level student in the Department of Educational Technology at the prestigious Obafemi Awolowo University, Nigeria. With his exceptional leadership abilities and commitment to making a difference, Akinola is poised to continue driving change in the Nigerian and sub-Saharan African educational system for years to come.
